SAMPLE ONE

From the Mishnafari Book

Beauty Is Everywhere

“Yes, sir! I love things that look beautiful. They make me happy.”

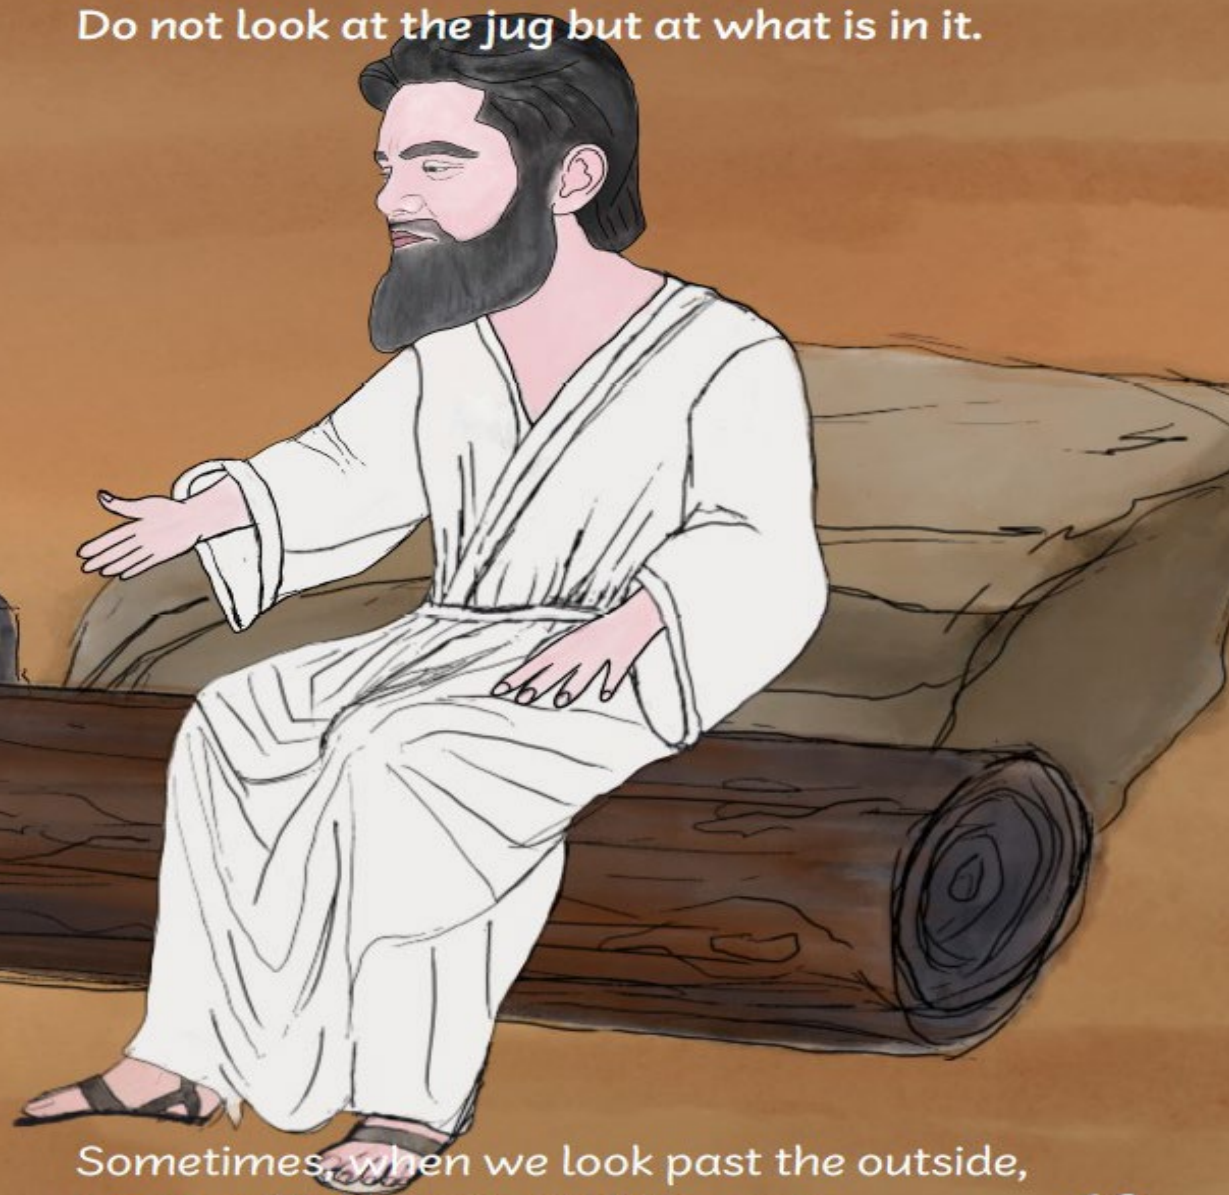

“And, are you sure that a beautiful friend will also be kind, smart, funny, and caring?”

“Hmmm, I didn’t think about that,” says Leo. “I just look at them and assume that I would be happy playing with them.”

“Here is what I say. Listen and think about it when you are back at home tonight, okay?”

Do not look at the jug but at what is in it.

Sometimes, when we look past the outside, we may find beauty and treasures.

SAMPLE TWO

From the Mishnafari Book

Beauty Is Everywhere

"I heard everybody in the cove calling your names. They are all so worried about you, so I offered my help. I noticed it was almost nighttime, and you guys can't see in the dark."

"How kind of you!" says Brooke, and the whole group is so touched.

"I told you!" whispers Moshe to Leo. "I told you, if you look on the inside, you would find this bat to be beautiful."

Leo nods and steps forward, "My dear bat, I owe you an apology, and I don't even know your name." Leo is embarrassed.

"The bat smiles and says, "I'm Elizabat."

“You are a SHE?” Leo and Moshe both open their eyes wide.

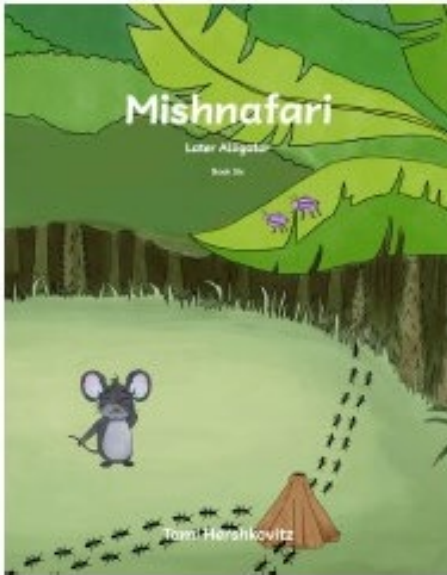

“Even I didn’t know it!” says Moshe.

“Haha, yes, I’m a lady bat. And I know you think I’m not pretty on the outside, but if you give me a chance, you may discover how pretty I am on the inside. I’m a very nice bat, who always wants to help and likes to have fun with my friends.”

As they all walk out of the jungle, following Elizabat, she tells them many stories about what happens at night - just outside their cove when they are all sleeping. They tell her about their adventures on hot sunny days. It is the beginning of a new, long, and beautiful friendship between the five of them.
