

UXPERIENCE DESIGN: A FRAMEWORK FOR ENGAGEMENT

CARINE WARSAWSKI

1

What is UX?

- Offers a feeling
- How we deliberately create experiences to elicit a certain response from the audience.

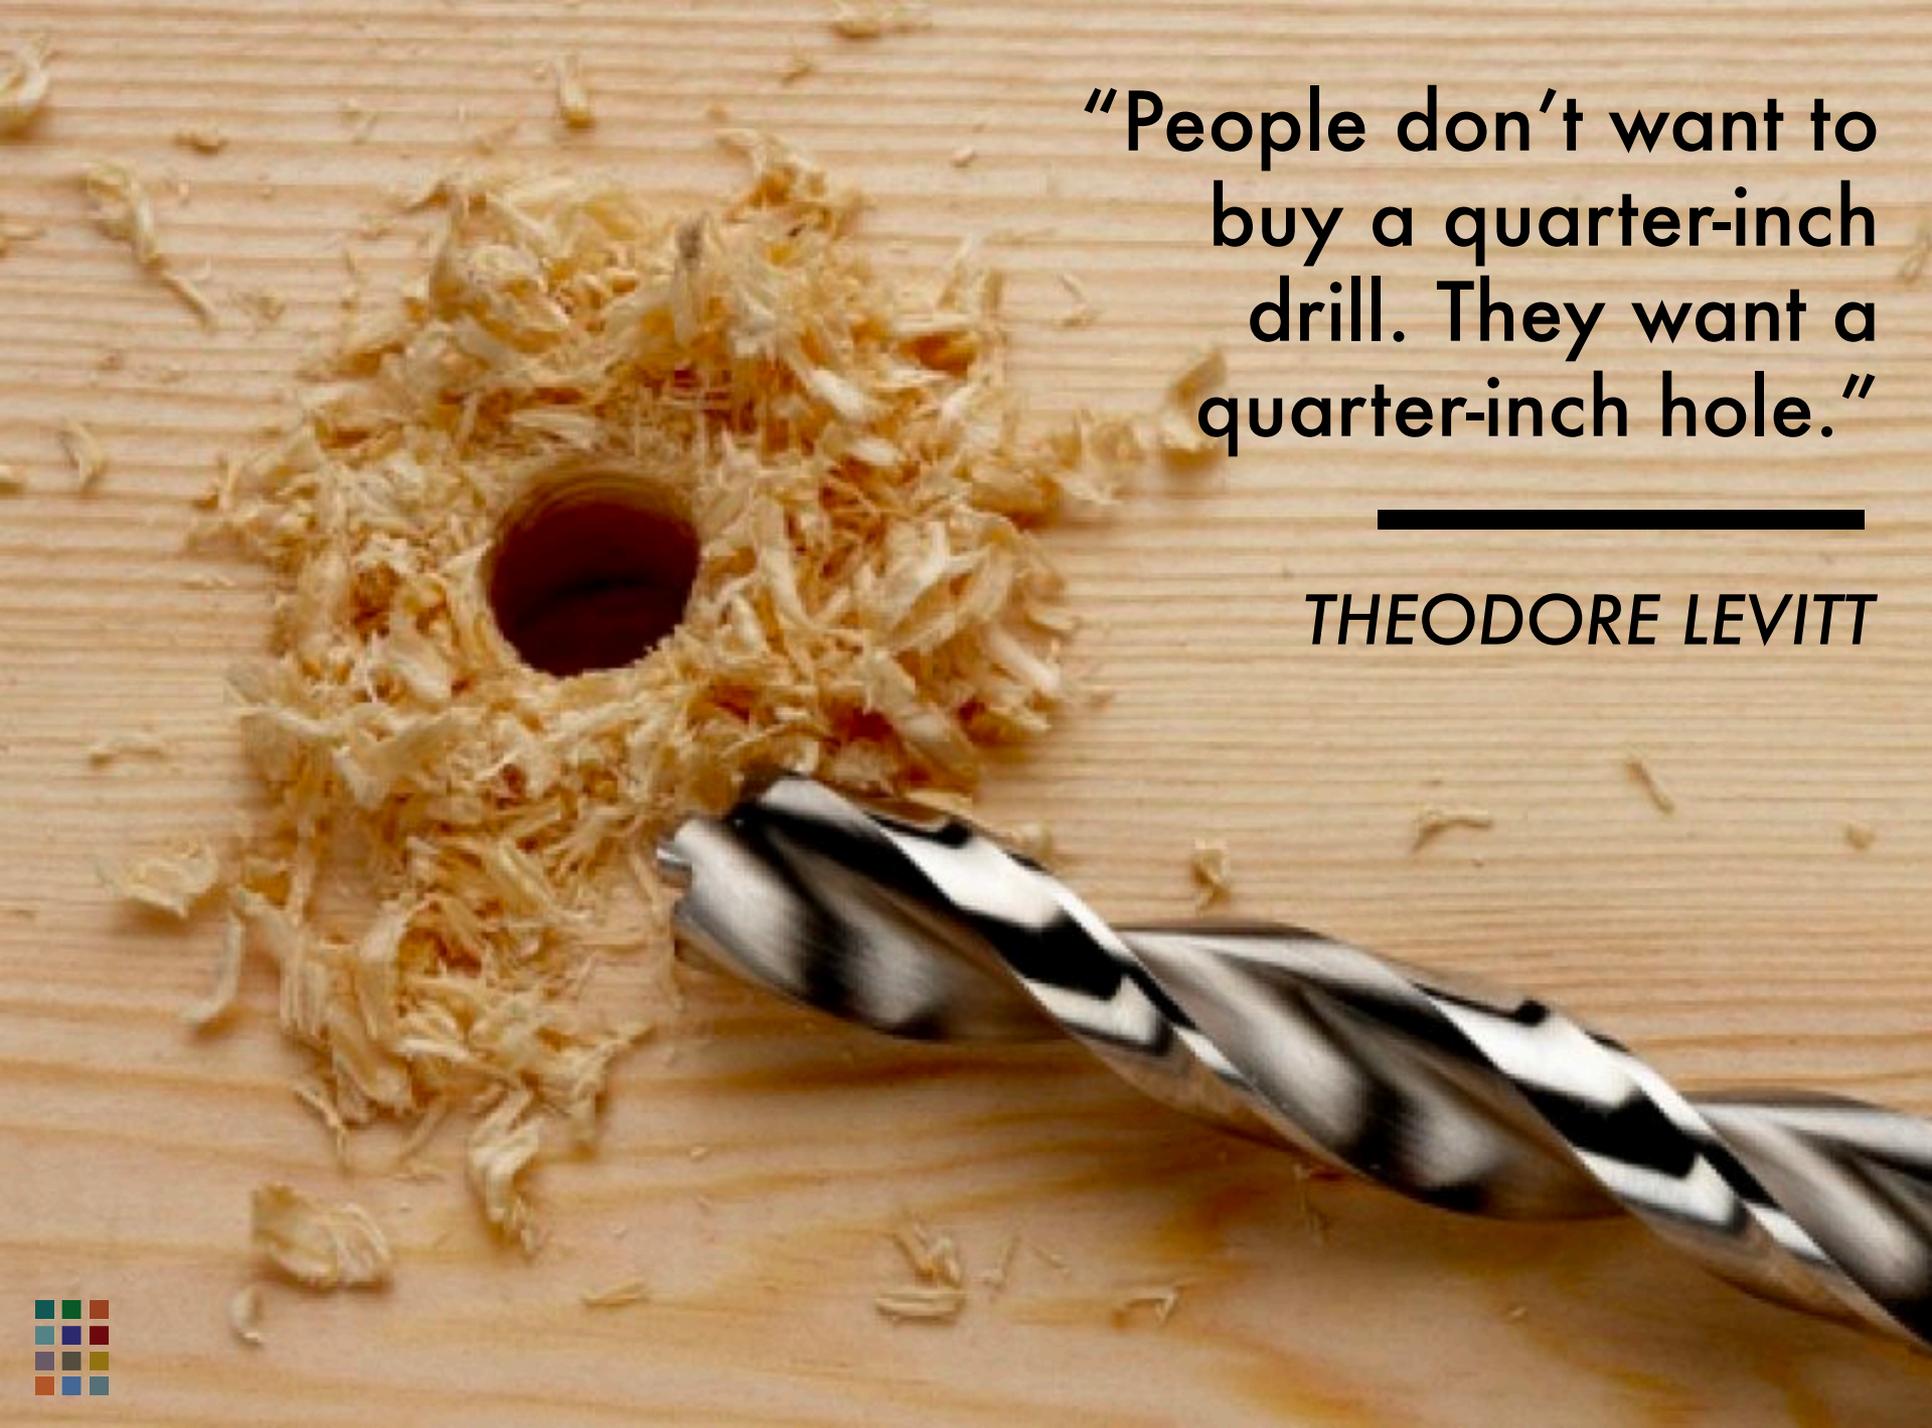

User first.

(this is a drill bit)

“People don’t want to buy a quarter-inch drill. They want a quarter-inch hole.”

THEODORE LEVITT

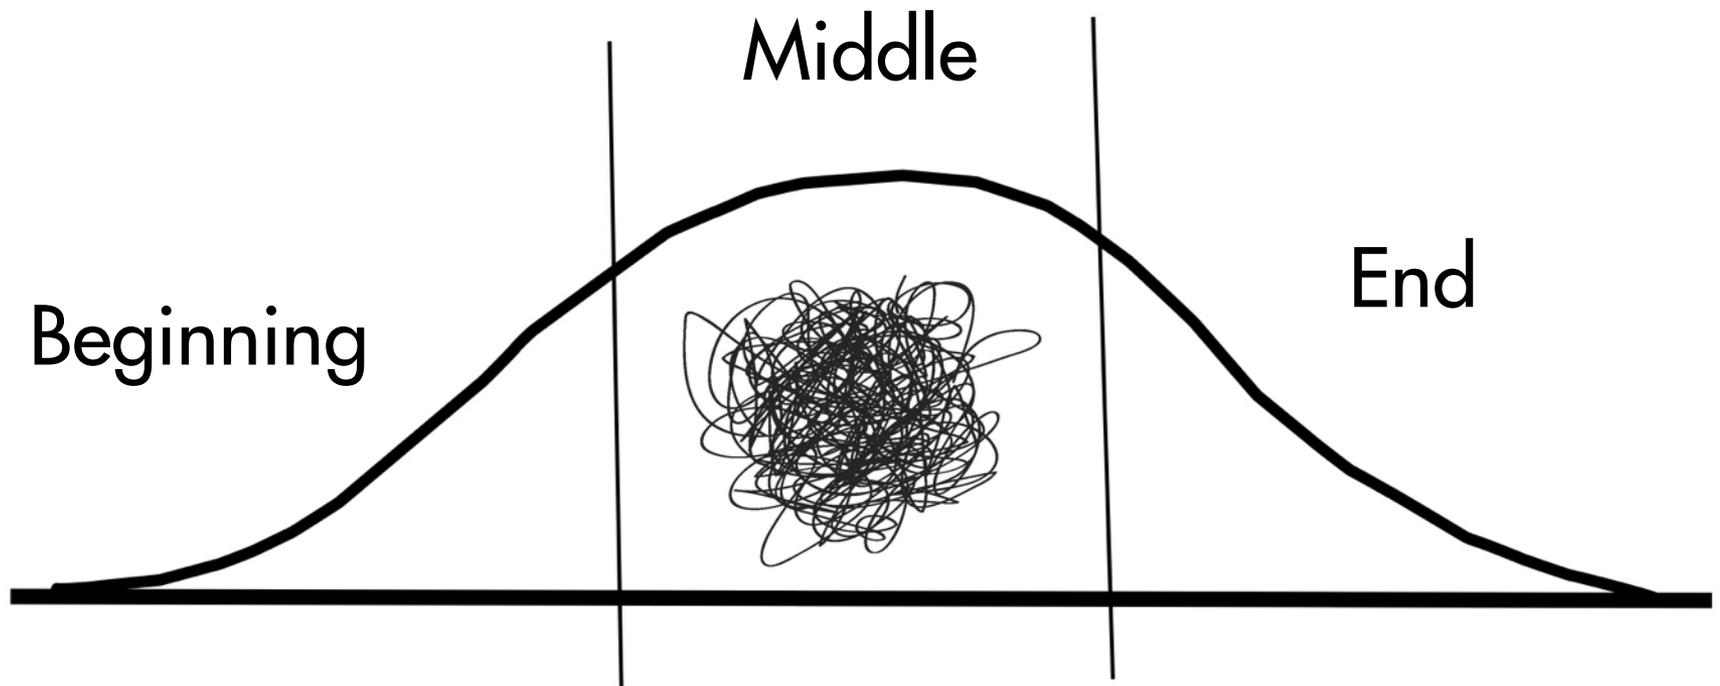

2

Don't design a program.
Design an itinerary

Create an arc of touchpoints

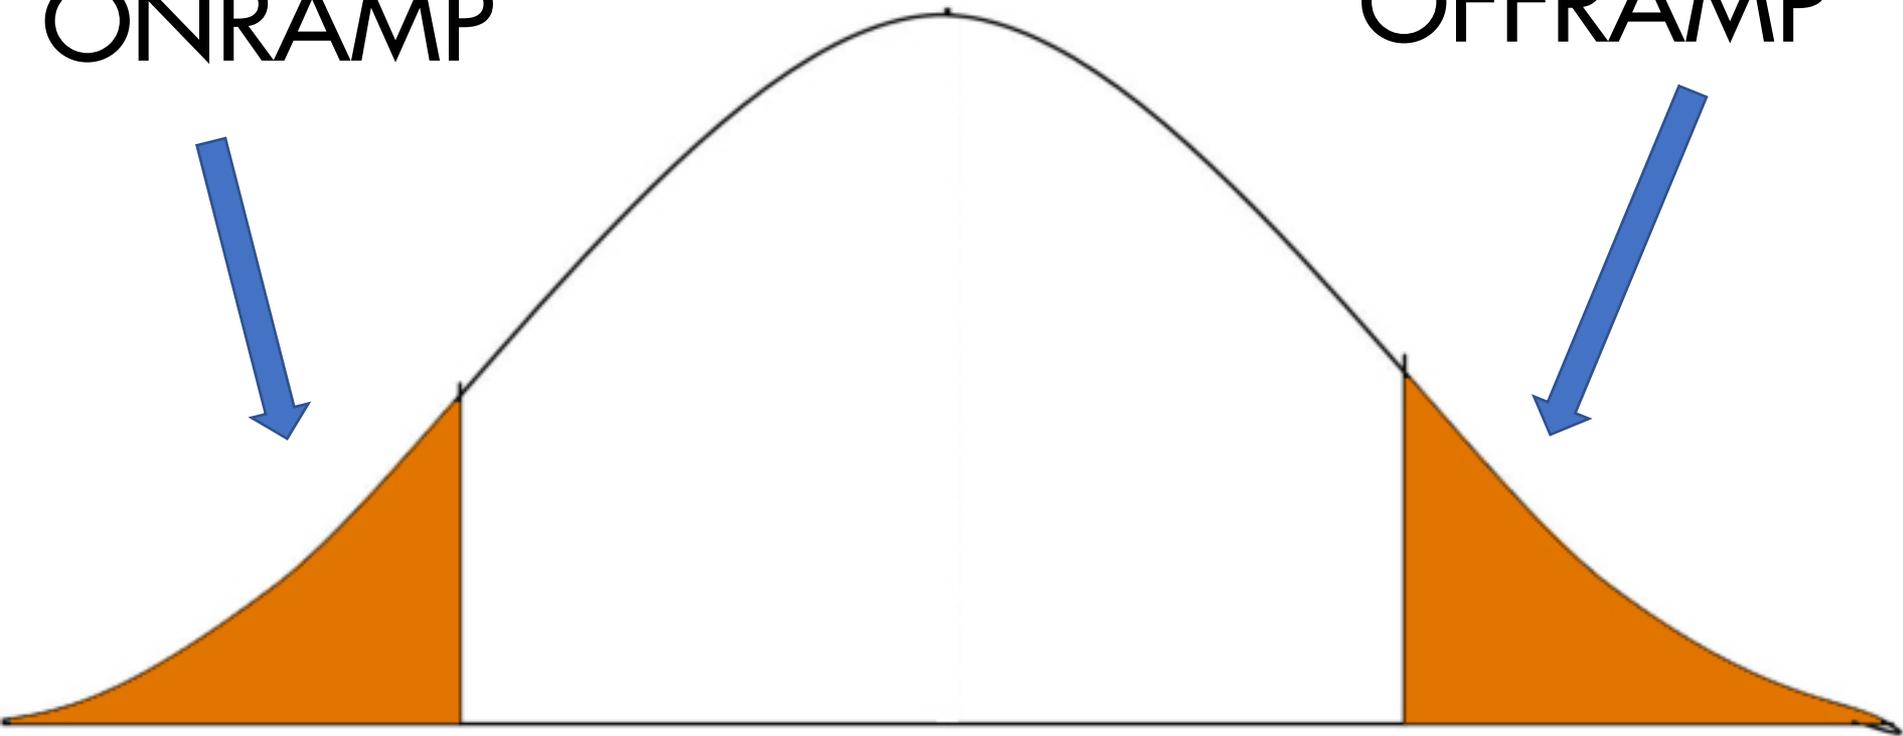

| Create an arc of touchpoints

Get ppl excited!

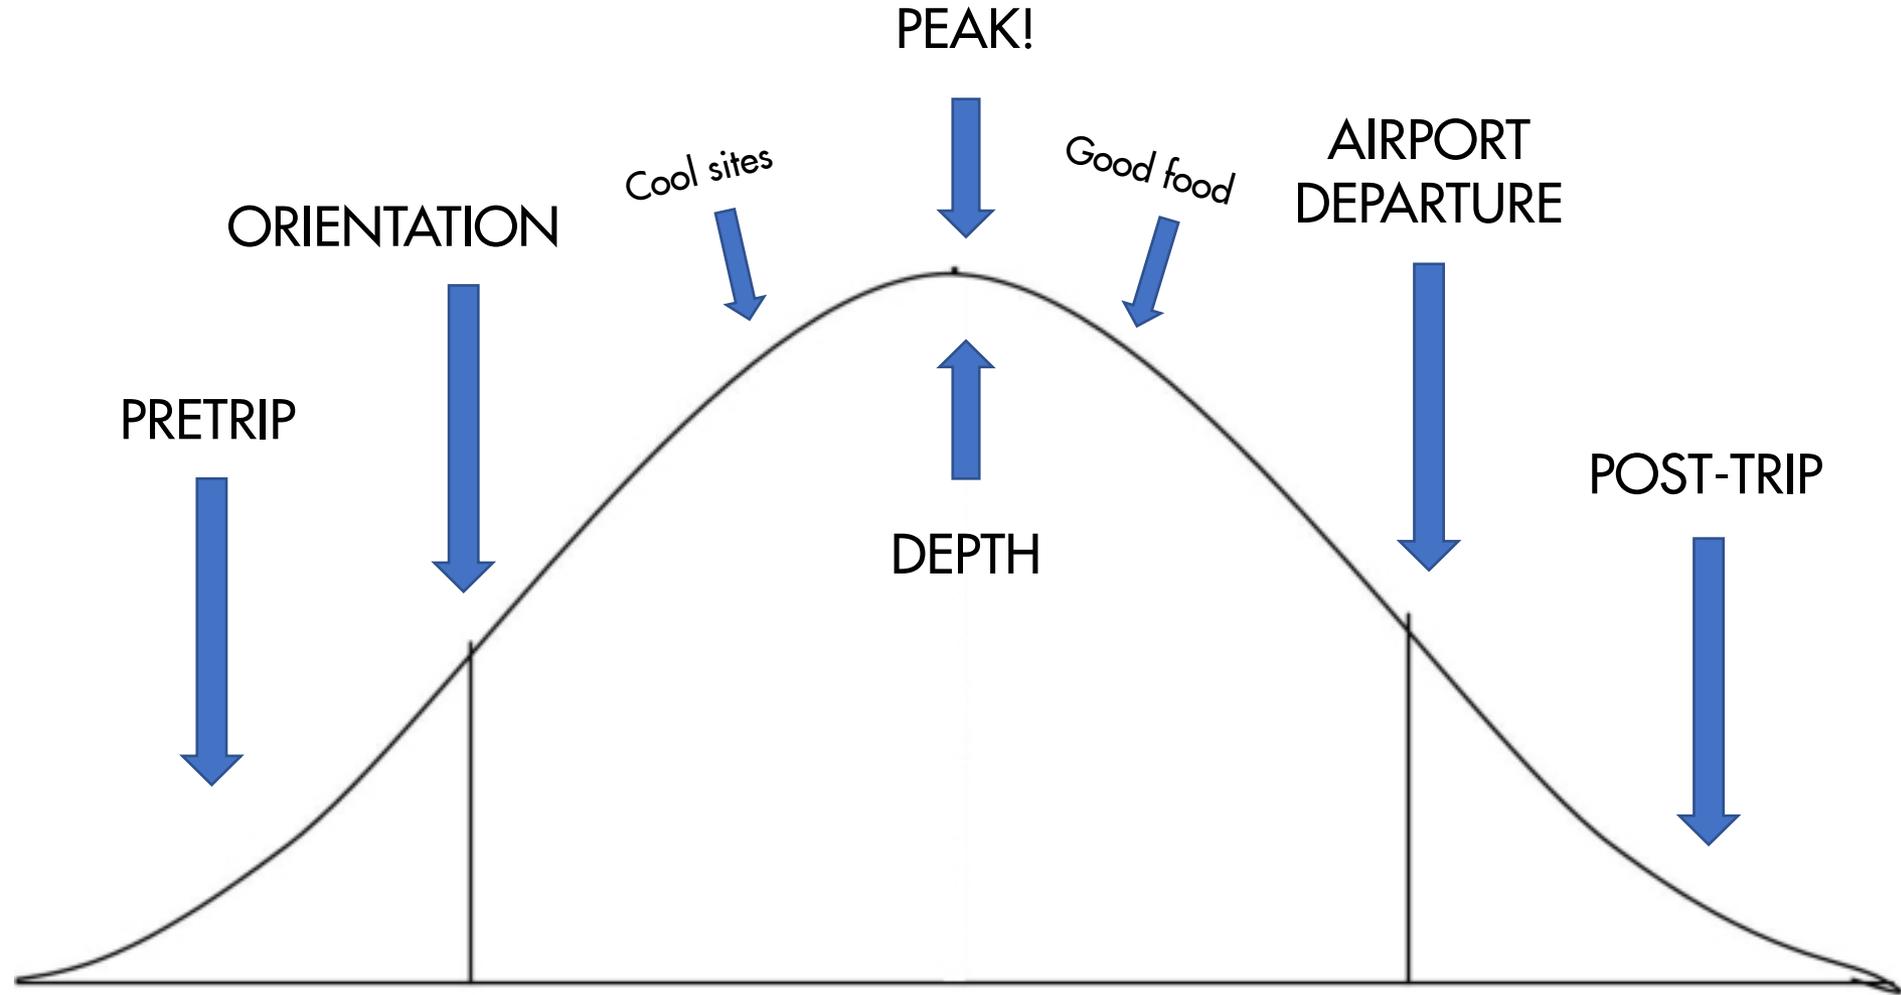

The Jewish goodbye!

ONRAMP

OFFRAMP

Itinerary Planning 101

3

THE PEAK END RULE

People judge an experience based on a peak moment and the end, rather than the total sum.

Insight

Realize something new about ourselves or the environment

PRIDE

Capture us at our best moments. Make people feel good about being there. Accomplish something together.

Elevation

Break the script. Boost sensory pleasures, add elements of surprise.

Connection

The experience or moment is strengthened because you're sharing it with people around you, forming new relationships.

Journey Mapping

ALL FOUR!

PRIDE,
CONNECTION

ELEVATION

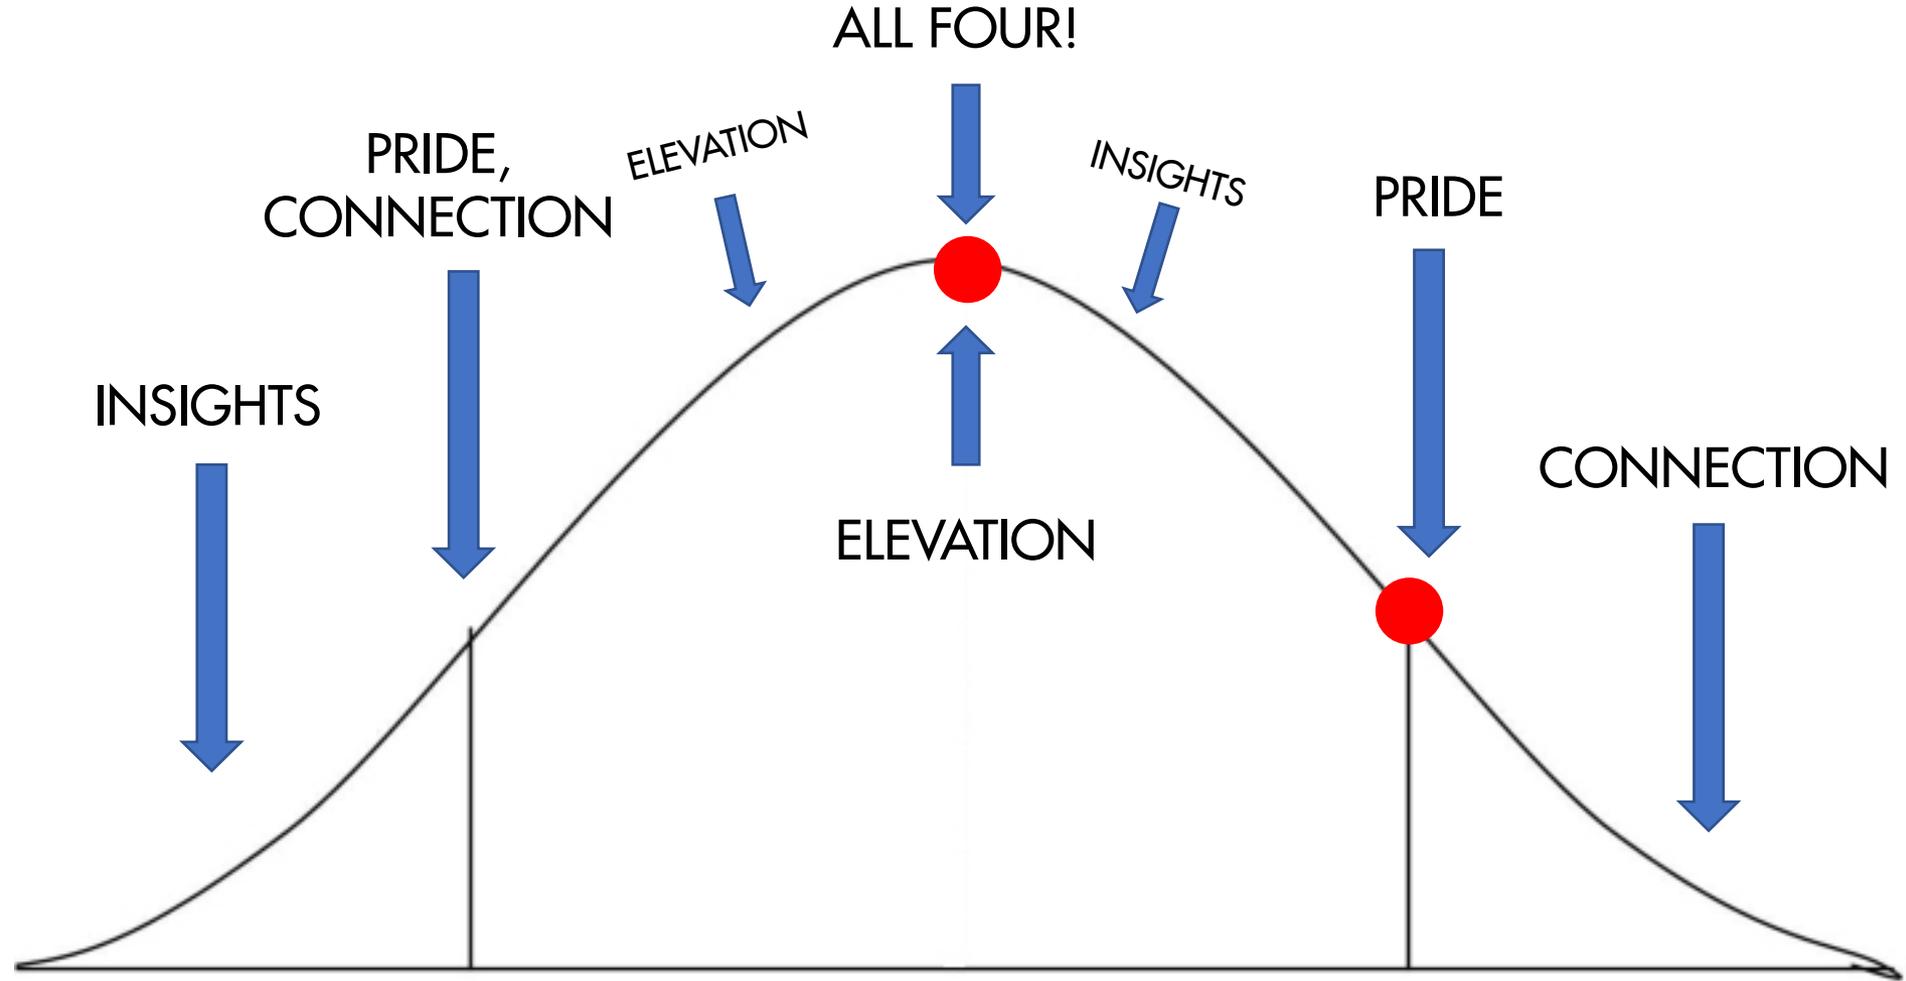

INSIGHTS

PRIDE

INSIGHTS

CONNECTION

ELEVATION

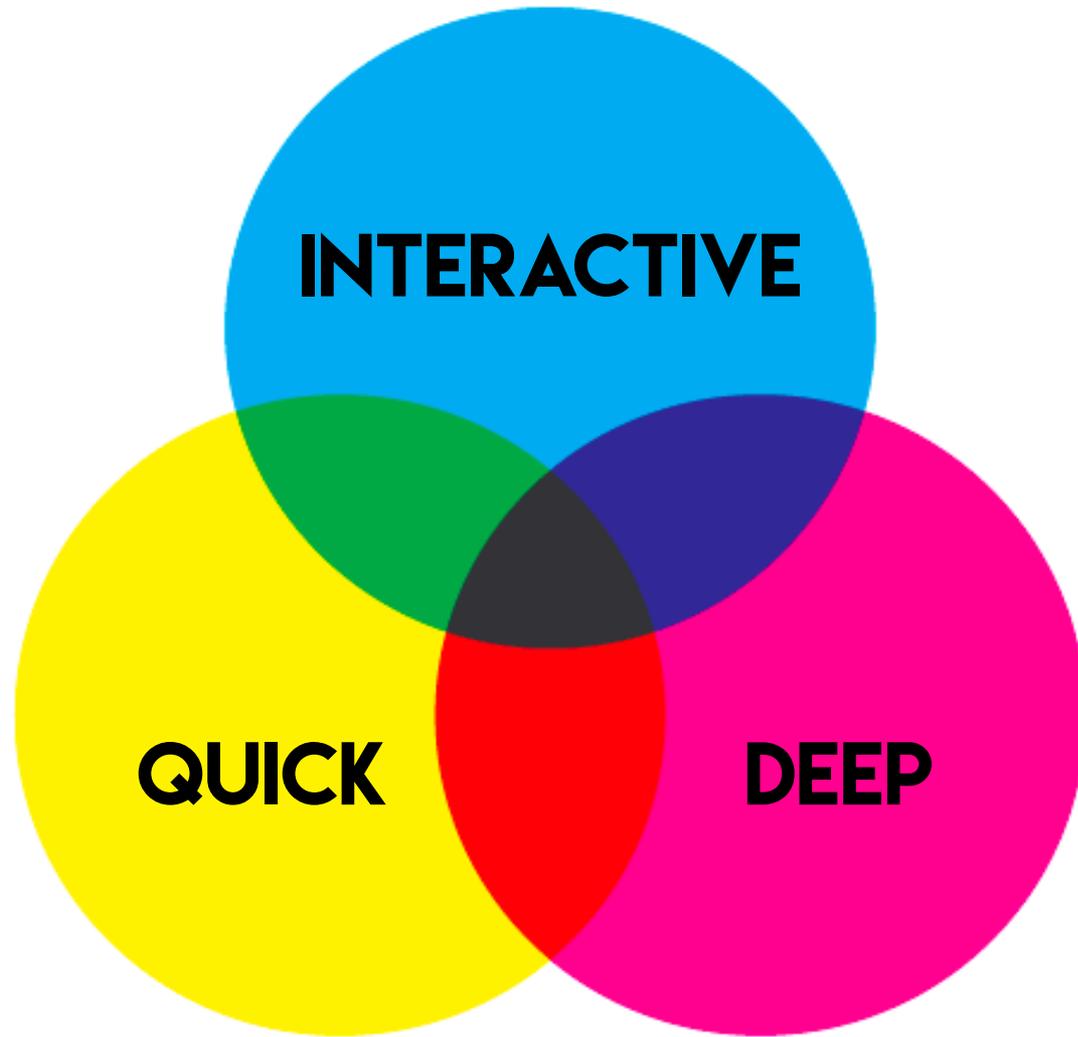

4

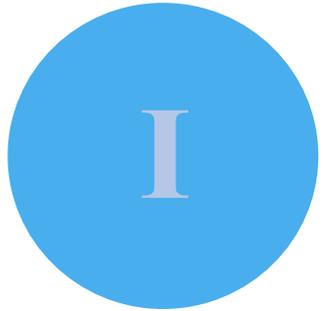

INTELLIGENT DESIGN

Be Realistic: Pick 2

| IQD: Intelligent Design

INTERACTIVE. BE SENSORY.

QUICK. DO YOU RLY NEED AN HOUR?

DEEP. NEEDS TIME TO BREATHE.

INTERACTIVE + QUICK = FUN

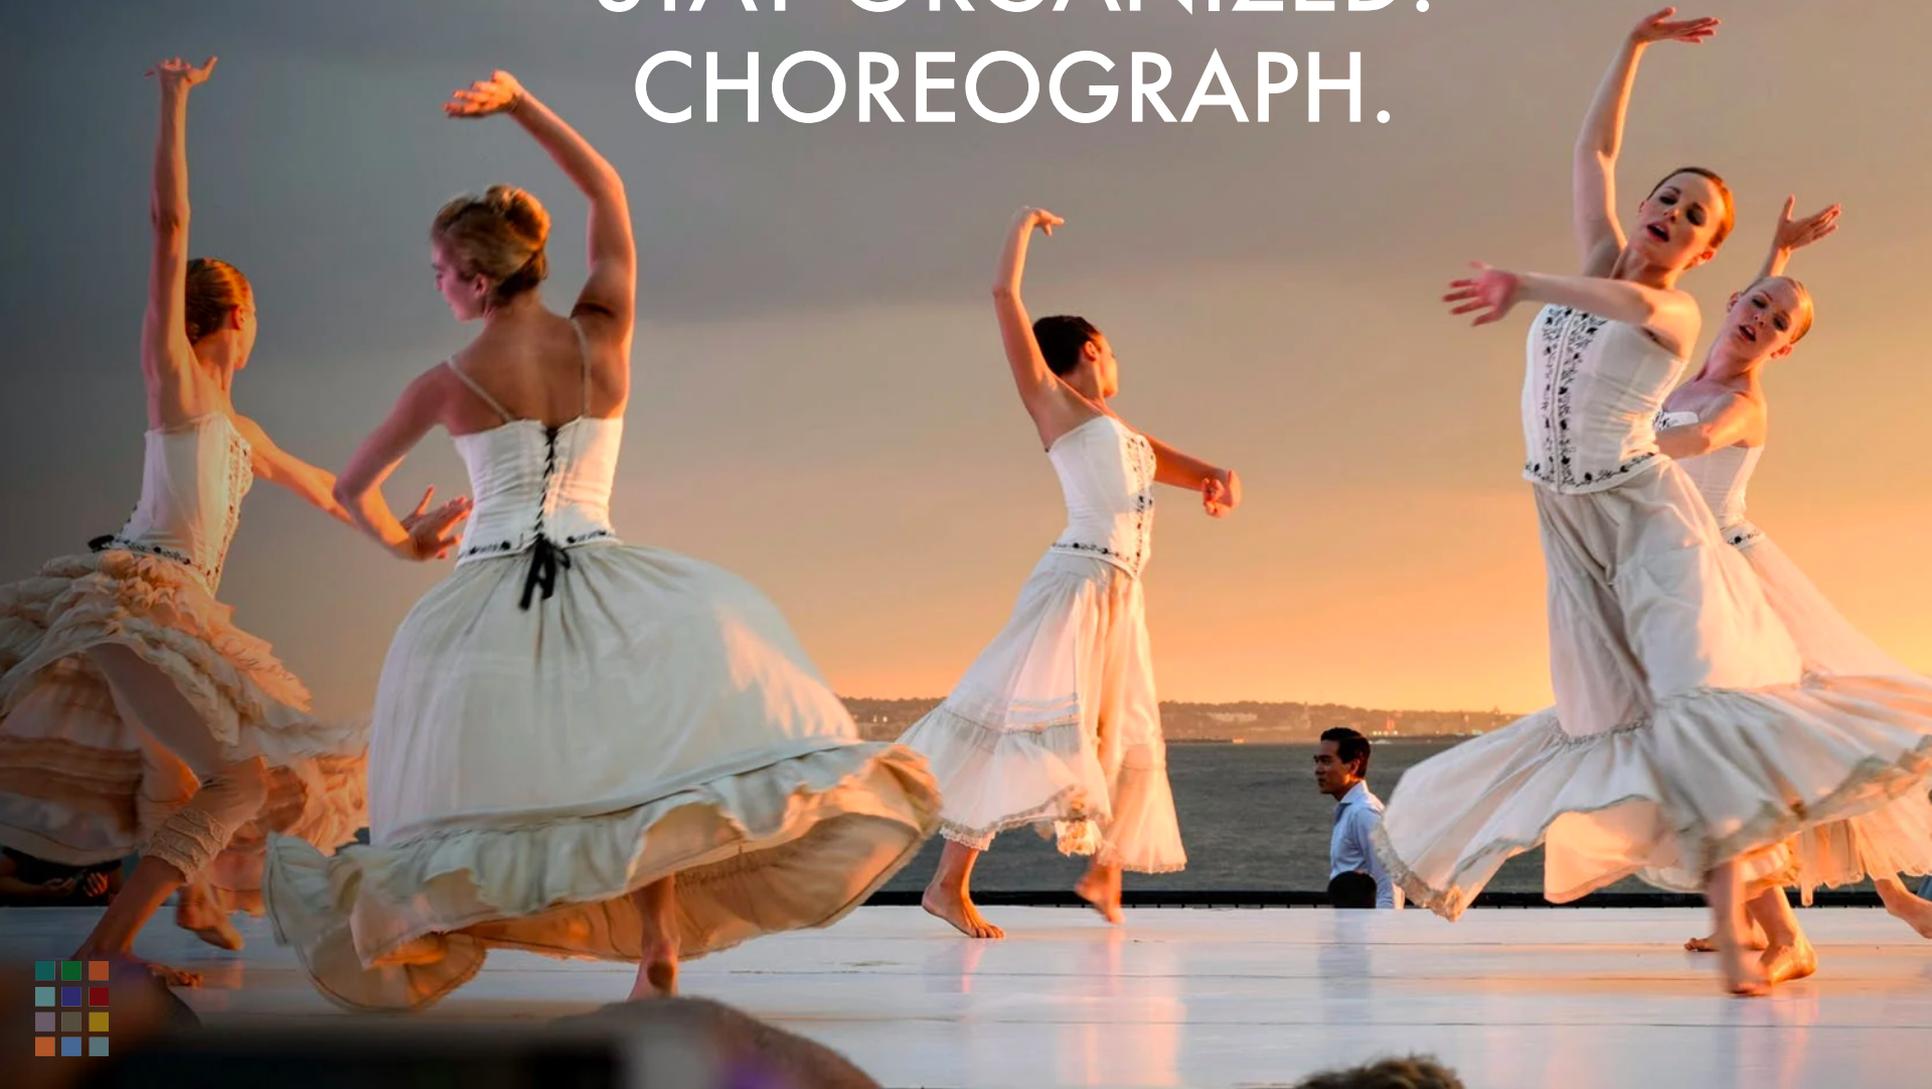

INTERACTIVE + DEEP = LONGER

QUICK + DEEP = MEANINGFUL

5

STAY ORGANIZED.
CHOREOGRAPHER.

SUMMARY

1. Be more than a 1/4" hole.
2. Don't design a program. Design an itinerary.
3. Peak-End Rule + 4 Pillars
4. IQD
5. Choreograph.

